Satori School Update ~ September 18, 2020

Dear Satori Students and Parents,

It has been nice connecting with families these past few weeks. It has taken longer than I thought it would, but I should be finishing up by the end of next week. I am finding most of my conversations are all over the place as far as wants and needs, but everyone is pretty consistent with their concerns for the safety of students, staff and families. It is wonderful to work in a community where everyone cares about everyone else. I have received many questions about opening in October after Fall Break. I am keeping track of numbers and connecting with the PCHD weekly. I should have more of a plan by the 28th of September and then will send out a survey if the board approves it. I promise I will send more detailed information when a decision is made to move forward in opening, in one form or another, after Fall Break.

Please feel free to reach out and let me know how you are doing and if you need anything. In the meantime, I will continue to go to the PCHD meetings and improve my vocabulary. I am now fully versed in ventilation and dilution of coronavirus particles in the air. I can also say 'epidemiologically linked' three times fast without screwing up too bad.

Take care and remember, as a team, we can do anything!

Jo
